

Editor's Comment:

I am writing to express my decision about the manuscript entitled "Haematological and histopathological effects of artemisinin-based combination therapy in healthy mice". As I have checked the reviewer comments and authors responses, both of the reviewers very nicely pointed out some issues. Authors gave feedback on maximum pointing. Additionally, I have checked the manuscript and I found critical issues. In the table, authors did not indicate the significant values with any sign (generally star mark). This should be corrected. Additionally, I agree with the reviewer that similar magnification should be used in pictures. Author should at least put scale bars on images. Importantly, authors mentioned hepatocyte degeneration in figures 2-5. According to my knowledge, these are not hepatocyte degeneration. These should be nucleus of hepatic cells. I am suggesting to accept this manuscript upon addressing the above mentioned issues.
