

Editor's Comment:

I carefully analyzed the evaluation process and the final paper. The author has made the changes required by the reviewers and now the final paper is much improved.

However, I consider that the paper can be accepted for publication only after the following 2 corrections / completions have been made:

- supplementing the bibliographic references with 3-4 recent papers. There is a lot of bibliography on the subject of the paper. In the paper there are no bibliographic references of the last 10 years. Nothing new has happened in this area in recent years?
- finishing and final editing of the paper.
