

Editor's Comment:

The manuscript titled as 'Cellulase Production by Curvularia pallescens isolated from textile effluent' dealing with isolation of cellulase producing fungi and partial characterization of enzyme. Since Cellulases are one of the important industrial enzymes and its bulk production is also important from microbial sources. Unfortunately, the manuscript was presented limited information. Although the reviewers reports, evaluation grades and the necessary corrections accomplishment, the manuscript is suitable as short communication.
