

Editor's Comment:

I have seen the manuscript and the different reports, and the following comments must be taken into consideration by the author before accepting the paper for publication, and no problem to change the journal.

- 1- In figure 4, I prefer to use a logarithmic scale for Y axes, such that the results are clearly shown.
- 2- Most of the references are old, an up to date references have to be used to support and strengthen the paper
- 3- And also, the material and methods paragraph is weak; more details have to be written for more clarification.

Once those comments done, I think, the paper can be accepted for publication in the new journal.
