

Editor's Comment:

"Mental Health and Loneliness: A Comparative Study of Glocalizing View of Gender Based Violence in Awka Town". The authors shows the results of their surveys, regarding gender biases violence in Awka Town, Nigeria. The topic is important and survey data should be accumulated for further studies. The paper however does not present any new findings, No correlation between loneliness – violence, No correlation between mental health – violence, Therefore it is not clear what the authors want to say in the paper? If the authors want to say the importance of social learning theory, referred in page 8, the reference [38], the authors should at first explain the social learning theory in Introduction. Then the authors should compare social learning theory with the hypotheses of loneliness or mental health. The title should also be changed.

Minor comments-

- 1.The percentages 71(52.3%) male and 78(47.7%) female is incorrect in page 1 and 6
- 2.The authors write the same rows twice in Table 1

Editor's Details:

Dr. Shiro Horiuchi

Faculty of International Tourism, Hannan University, Japan