

Editor's Comment:

The paper was a little bit revised; the authors should explain where they changed their manuscript. Still I found some dubious typos errors. Please check whether they are right or wrong. Page 7, the section Results and Table 1. The mean values, SD and N of positive (74.45, 7.02, 62) and negative (73.47, 6.45, 87) are exactly same values for mental health and loneliness. I cannot believe the values become exactly same for different questions. Probably the authors wrote wrong results there.
