

Editor's Comment:

I have reviewed the manuscript and previous comments, and have the following observations:

- 1) The references are not in the proper format. They must be properly cited in the text. On the other hand, 6 references are too few for a scientific article.
- 2) There are many spelling and grammar mistakes that need to be corrected.
- 3) There are different font sizes throughout the text, and spaces that are left over or are missing, so a thorough review is needed.

With all these observations, I cannot recommend the publication of the manuscript in its current state. I recommend the author to review ALL the comments made by me and the previous reviewers and modify the text appropriately.
