1. References- APA method was employed always references must be according to the guidelines of the journal. Particularly, citation in text must use number and reference list must ordered according to appearance in the text 2. I suggest to change "nutritional" with "proximate composition" as actually no nutritional analyses were carried out	We have complied with your journal's reference method. We accept your suggestion to change to "proximate composition" which is more specific, though some of the parameters considered are part of nutritional properties of food. We however slightly modified the title for easy flow and reduction of number of words.
