Compulsory REVISION comments	The result should be discussed in line with previous studies. There are barely any references in the results/discussion section.
Minor REVISION comments	Dear author(s), there is a difference between 30 percent and 30 per cent. I guess you intended to use 30 percent. It would be better if you wrote 30% instead of 30 percent. This runs throughout the text.
Optional/General comments	The manuscript " Moringa oleifera: Production and Marketing in Tiruppur District " review and discusses the marketing channels of Moringa oleifera in Tirppur District. The findings are profound. We learn among many things, opportunities for farmers to sell their produce and make more profit. The paper provides information which is relevant in improving the sector and the lives of the stakeholders. I strongly recommend that this manuscript be published in this journal with very minor concerns (which I have highlighted in the manuscript).
