| | Reviewer's comment | Author's comment (if agreed with reviewer, correct the manuscript and highlight that part in the manuscript. It is mandatory that authors should write his/her feedback here) |
|-------------------------------------|--|---|
| Compulsory REVISION comments | Review term "Bicuspidization in title and all along the article. This is not a regularly used term in periodontology. Suggested Title below. Lots of English corrections to be made. I've pointed out some below, with mark ups. Must say that the patient had no periodontal disease, that it was an endoperio lesion, after pulpal necrosis. Was the patient systemically healthy? Did he smoke? How was his oral hygiene condition? Must include recent references. Included some below. Must emphasize in discussion pros and cons of the technique and why it should be made instead of dental implants. Considering it's a young patient, with no periodontal disease and a bone loss in the furcation area secondary to a pulpal necrosis, do you think you could wait a while and see bone formation in the furcation area after the treatment? Why did you choose the ressective procedure in a young patient, immediately after root canal treatment? You should discuss this. Did you give the patient options? Why did he prefer this treatment? Discuss alternatives. | |
