"As the milk and milk products get produced and move in the system, every member should update the relevant information in the network, which also can be automated by the use of IoTs." The expression of this sentence is confusing. How to achieve "automatic"? Authors should change the expression or explain the sentence more. 2. "Blockchain technology being the new technology is still unknown to the people". At present, blockchain is one of the most popular technologies that has attracted the attention of many people. Is the usage of "unknown" in the sentence accurate?
Optional/General comments	This article is well structured, and the content is also good. However, as a review article, the author should conduct more analysis of previous work of others and summarize their own opinions.
